

Dear Sir or Madam:

I am writing about the Id50 test that is currently carried out on animals.

Because there are other accurate methods out there, would it not be expedient to make sure they are used. Sparing animal lives is good corporate citizenry as well as cost effective. You save on buying up animals, housing them and disposing of them once the tests are effected. Staff morale would also be higher as most people find it repugnant to hurt animals.

I urge you to do the right thing and thank you in advance for your time.

Yours truly

jo-ann dodds